

Nick H. Kim, MD

University of California, San Diego

La Jolla, CA USA

Nick H. Kim, MD, is Professor of Medicine in the Division of Pulmonary, Critical Care and Sleep Medicine at the University of California, San Diego (UCSD). As Section Chief of Pulmonary Vascular Medicine, he oversees all pulmonary hypertension and chronic thromboembolic disease activities at UCSD. After studying at Harvard University and the University of Chicago Pritzker School of Medicine, Dr. Kim carried out his internal medicine training and fellowship at the University of Chicago and UCSD, respectively. His research and clinical interests are focused on pulmonary hypertension, chronic thromboembolic disease, and balloon pulmonary angioplasty. He has published in many peer-reviewed journals, assisted emerging centers, and has lectured internationally on these subjects.