

Prof. TOMÁS PULIDO

Head, Cardiopulmonary Department

Ignacio Chavez National Heart Institute

Mexico City, Mexico

- Obtained his Medical degree from La Salle university and the National Autonomous University of Mexico (UNAM) in 1990
- Internal Medicine Residency - UNAM
- Fellowship in pulmonary vascular diseases at the National Heart Institute in Mexico City
- Respiratory Medicine Residency from the University of Manitoba, Canada
- Professor of Medicine at La Salle University Faculty of Medicine from 2008-2018
- Associate Professor of Medicine – Pulmonary Vascular Diseases Program, National Autonomous University of Mexico, UNAM, National Heart Institute from 2008 to date.
- Member of the National Research Council- CONACYT - Mexico
- Member, National Academy of Medicine, Mexico
- Member of ACCP, ATS, ERS, ALAT
- Former coordinator of the pulmonary circulation committee, Mexican Society of Respirology and Thoracic Surgery
- Former Director of the Pulmonary Circulation Chapter, Latin American Thoracic Society
- Member of the scientific committee for the Mexican Registry of Pulmonary Hypertension
- Principal investigator in more than 20 clinical trials involving new drugs for PAH and CTEPH
- He has authored or co-authored numerous articles about pulmonary vascular diseases and has more than 5000 citations.